Offering myriad Spiritually stimulating programs, guidance is provided to help draw people closer to God and into a greater awareness of truth about themselves. While staying on our campus, participants can take meditative walks on trails in the woods, sit down in quiet places, or simply admire God’s creation while reading scriptures, praying and meditating in a natural, awe-inspiring motif. Some may opt to go out on the lake with a kayak and gently glide on the lake while contemplating their relationships with God and mankind.

Opportunities Await

The schedules will each contain time for prayer and meditation, time for group dialog, time for individual and group training, free time to process on your own, and of course time for meals and personal necessities. All guided activities are designed to help participants discover how to acquire a strong sense of the presence of God and to invoke His Spirit’s power and peace. Group dynamics expand the horizons to include myriad experiences of others which bring enlightenment and truth.

Suggested Daily Schedule

- 5:00-7:00 – Early morning prayer and mediation
- 9:00-12:00 – God-Talk relationship seminar
- 1:00-2:00 – Power of prayer and meditation workshops
- 2:00 – 6:00 – Afternoon prayer and meditation
- 7:00 – 9:00 – God-Talk relationship seminar
- 9:00-10:00 – Prayer and Meditation

Tranquil Accommodations

Our secluded accommodations provide a tranquil setting with very limited distraction. They are nestled in the Wild Life Preserve surrounding Belews Creek and its lakes. Accommodations range from rustic cabins in the woods to tents by the lake to RV sites to a group dormitory. The events are from one to seven days, crafted to meet the participants’ needs and desires. Longer stays can be arranged upon request and availability.

Resources

Our resources will make your stay affordable, convenient and comfortable. Scholarships are provided for those who need financial assistance in order to participate. The programs are inclusive of all and age appropriate. Special events are tailored to the public and parochial educational communities. We make every effort to see to it that everyone has the opportunity to partake of these life-changing experiences which nearly always produce permanent and positive changes for those who are open-minded and open to change.

Equipment, supplies and materials.

A supply shed will dispense camping, hiking, and kayaking gear, general camping supplies, hot/cold food containers, food preparation equipment, disposable tableware and utensils, linens, pillows and other sleeping essentials, and recommended reading materials and training supplies for a reasonable fee and appropriate deposits. Basic furniture will be provided for the rustic cabins.

What to Bring

Yourself and any technologies which will enable you to maximize your experience according to the program and schedule provided for your unique experience. Bring along swim gear and any other nature gear you own and prefer to use as opposed to ours. You can bring your own food or make arrangements in advance to coordinate our procurement of your grocery list at your expense. Deep Healing Experience participants will be responsible to prepare their own meals. Most groups opt to foray out into the community to dine at local restaurants.

Donations

As an approved IRS 501©(3) non-profit organization, we accept tax deductible donations to defray to costs to support and maintain the facilities, equipment and programs. Deposits are required for some equipment items to insure that those items are returned in satisfactory condition. We accept credit/debit/cash cards. (Suggested donations will be provided.)
